

ETH Zürich
D-ARCH Departement Architektur
Institut für Geschichte und Theorie der Architektur gta

The Doctoral Program in History and Theory of Architecture is oriented toward the training of scholars in the field of architectural history and theory. The program's focus is on the history and theory of architecture and urbanism in a wider context of cultural history, including the history and theory of art, science and technology.

The Application Process

The Doctoral Program in History and Theory of Architecture offers supervision and funding for doctoral students through a fellowship program. Calls for applications are published each year during the winter semester, positions start October 1st.

For currently open positions, please check the corresponding menu item.